

Flinders Ranges

The remoteness of the Gammon Ranges hides a spectacular beauty experienced by few.

Stone huts once populated by early pastoral and mining pioneers lie dormant among rugged peaks dotted with grass trees. These relics of residences are testament to the harsh life in this extraordinary landscape.

You'll visit Arkaroola Wilderness Sanctuary, walk parts of the iconic Heysen Trail, immerse yourself in the beauty of Wilpena Pound, climb hills named by Matthew Flinders and follow creeks through remarkable gorges.

A bushwalking classic, timeless in its beauty.

Flinders Ranges 11 Day itinerary (Adelaide return)

Day 1 Depart Adelaide at around 7.00am travelling via the Barrier Highway to Yunta then north past Frome Downs sheep station to the Gammon Ranges arriving about 6pm. Time for a wander in the immediate area while camp is prepared.

Day 2 A day walk through Weetootla Gorge and across ridgetops (up to 12.2kms). This walk can be shortened to suit participants. Return to base camp.

Day 3 A full day walk into the Blue Range (part of the Gammon Ranges) returning to base camp. (up to 18km undulating)

Day 4 A day trip to Arkaroola Wilderness Sanctuary.

Day 5 Departing about 9am (you are encouraged to wander on ahead and the vehicle will catch up) for the western side of the Gammon Ranges arriving mid afternoon for a walk about the base of Arcoona Bluff (2km)

Day 6 A climb to the rugged wilderness peaks of Arcoona Bluff (8 hours return) for magnificent views north and into the only partly explored regions of the Gammon ranges. (8km hard climbing). This walk can be shortened to suit participants.

Day 7 We cross back to the eastern face of the Flinders Ranges and travel via the Erugunda Valley to Blinman and the Aroona Valley for the nights camp.

Day 8 A full days walk to Bathtub Creek (a spectacular gorge) along part of the Heysen Trail in Aroona Valley. (14km undulating)

Day 9 Heading south via Bunyeroo Gorge we head for Wilpena Pound. A morning walk into the pound to the Wangarra lookout. (7.8km) Then we visit Old Wilpena Station before heading for Hawker and Quorn. We stay the last couple of nights in the Quorn Caravan Park.

Day 10 A short drive and a day walk climbing Mt Brown. (11.6km rtn/15km loop) and the afternoon exploring Quorn.

Day 11 Depart the caravan park early. Drive to Willmington and Mt Remarkable National Park. A morning walk from Alligator Gorge through to Mambray Creek (11km one way - 4 hrs) where we will have lunch before heading back to Adelaide arriving approx 5pm.

